Camden Vicinage Superior Court Presents Drug Court Awareness Day

Former Gov. Jim McGreevey will give the keynote address at the Camden County Drug Court Awareness Day on Friday, May 10 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Roosevelt Plaza Park, 520 Market St., Camden.

Attendees will enjoy a fun day of family activities, including an up-close look at a fire truck, as representatives from the Camden City Fire Department will be on hand to discuss fire safety and distribute free smoke detectors. The Camden County Health Van will be on site, giving blood pressure readings and distributing health information. The Camden County Sheriff's Department will give a K-9 demonstration. Children can enjoy face painting and balloons. Refreshments will be available.

Representatives from many local and county agencies will be present to meet the public and distribute information about their services, including many of the treatment providers who assist drug court participants in their rehabilitation. Court staff, representatives from the Camden County Prosecutor's Office and the Office of the Public Defender, and representatives from the Rutgers School of Law Pro Bono Program will distribute information about their programs.

Other speakers include Superior Court Judge Irvin Snyder, who presides over the Camden County Drug Court, court staff, and graduates of the program.

The goal of the event is to raise community awareness of the successful role that drug court has played in restoring lives, families and communities.

This event is free and open to the public. Pre-registration is not required.
