Jason J. Corter Named Trial Court Administrator for Cumberland/Gloucester/Salem Vicinage

Assignment Judge Georgia M. Curio of the Cumberland/Gloucester/Salem Vicinage today announced the appointment of Jason J. Corter as trial court administrator, effective July 1.

Corter succeeds Mark Sprock, who has been serving as TCA since October 2007. Sprock has been with the New Jersey Judiciary for 36 years, all in the Cumberland, Gloucester, Salem Vicinage.

“Mark has been a leader in the courts throughout his tenure. He has chaired important policy-making committees and has tackled every possible administrative challenge, from recovering after a devastating flood to managing with staff and judicial shortages. He will be missed,” said Administrative Director of the Courts Judge Glenn Grant.

Under New Jersey court rules, the administrative director of the courts appoints the trial court administrator in each vicinage. Judge Grant said he named Corter on the strong recommendation of Judge Curio.

Corter will work closely with Judge Curio and vicinage leadership to manage a court operation that includes 23 judges and 560 staff members.

“Jason has been an outstanding division manager and brings an innovative yet practical approach to the position of trial court administrator,” said Judge Curio.

The trial court administrator is the highest ranking staff executive in the vicinage in charge of all court operations, including financial management, human resources, information systems, case coordination, case flow management, probation services, jury utilization, facilities, equipment, maintenance, records management and statistical analysis.

“We all owe Mark Sprock a debt of gratitude for the leadership he has provided. The courts in all three counties are ready to be handed over to new leadership thanks to Mark’s stewardship. He is a wonderful colleague and a friend to us of all,” Judge Curio said.

Corter earned a master of human resources training and development degree from Seton Hall University and a bachelor’s degree in interdisciplinary studies from Coastal Carolina University. Corter began his career with the New Jersey Judiciary in 2000 working in the family division. He most recently served as family division manager for the Cumberland/Gloucester/Salem Vicinage.

“I am both proud and humbled to receive this appointment,” Corter said. “The staff and judges here are some of the best in the state and I will serve them all those who come to the courts for justice, to the best of my ability.”
